```
Nar
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                STUDENT REPORT
                                                   NITIN NARENDRA GHANMODE
                                           Roll Number
                                                   3BR23ME014
                                      Description of the Part of the EXPERIMENT
                                  Title
                                                     You have been given the tash of making the content on a social media platform more user-friendly. Your tash is to find and return an integer value representing the count of the number of spaces in a given string S.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 MELLATE
                                                    Input:
                                                     A string S
                                                     Output :
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Ella JHP
                                                     Return an integer value representing the count of the number of spaces in a given string S.
                                                     Example:
                                                    Input:
                                                     Hello World Hey
                                                     Output:
                                                     2
                                         Sovrce Code: s=input().split()
                                                      c=0
                                                       for i in s:
                                                     print(c-1)
ELLIN THE RESULT
                                            5 / 5 Test Cases Passed | 100 %
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    MEDI
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      38823
```

"3MED"

-FDIA

Logo